Acquisition of Wilco Machine & Fab Inc.

Dear Valued Client,

We are pleased to announce the sale of Wilco Machine & Fab Inc. to National Oilwell Varco (NOV) on March 12, 2018.

As part of this transaction, employees dedicated to Wilco were transferred to NOV and will continue to provide the highest product and service quality to you, our valued stakeholders.

There will be some changes to come as we continue to work through a brief transition period under one integrated platform in order to deliver better products and service solutions.

Kris Boles and his team will continue to run the business, now living within the Intervention and Stimulation Business Unit as valued members of the Completion & Production Solutions Segment within NOV.

We continue to work through a brief transaction period which should not impact your business needs, as we will ensure the same high level of service and care. During this transition, all existing purchase and service orders will be handled and fulfilled in coordination with Wilco until the business is fully integrated into NOV.

For further information on Wilco™ products and services, please contact your local sales representative or email us at wilco@nov.com.

Yours Sincerely,

Scott Livingston
